- A) the obvious one, Fb 6b+, SD
(SD = sit down start)
the obvious left – right traverse, without the good holds at the upper edge.

- B) *the nose, Fb 6b+, SD
a bit shorter than the famous counterpart. nevertheless watch out for the nosedrop when falling off!

- C) *you are my number 1, Fb 6c, SD athletic, awesome, my favourite! keyword heelhook...

- D) cleared to land runway 29, Fb 6a, SD
defined, straight over the arête
without standing on the ramp right.

- E) my favourite 15 inch sub, Fb 5c
get started on the small footholds is the hardest part .

- F) *Just another one , Fb 5c
a bit harder than it looks...

- G) *twenty20, Fb 6b
a delicate slab boulder, without the little block lying above, just the slopers straight up and left, no use of the ramp left for standing. very nice though defined.
